Fourteen New Publishers Participate in ebrary's Half-Off Sale

Brookings, University of Chicago Press, University of Michigan Press, Brill, and others join more than 21 publishers offering the best cost savings of the year

August 19, 2009 – Palo Alto, CA, USA – ebrary®, a leading provider of digital content products and technologies, today announced that 14 new publishers have joined its Half-Off Sale, bringing libraries, corporations, and other institutions the best cost savings of the year on full-text e-books.

To date, more than 21 publishers have signed up to participate in ebrary's new program including Cambridge University Press, Elsevier, IGI Global, Springer, Taylor & Francis, and Wiley, and others are expected to sign up shortly. A real time listing of participating publishers is available at <http://www.ebrary.com/corp/promos.jsp#publisher>.

“We are very excited by the overwhelming response from our publishing partners who are joining us in making e-books more affordable in a challenging economy,” said Leslie Lees, Vice President of Content Development at ebrary. “We expect that a significant number of our publishing partners around the world will participate in this first-of-its kind promotion, and we look forward to extending it to libraries and other organizations worldwide.”
