ebrary Honors National Library Week, Offers Complimentary Access to Library Science E-books

April 9, 2008 – Palo Alto, CA – In support of National Library Week, April 13 to 19, 2008, ebrary®, a leading provider of e-content services and technology, today announced that it will provide librarians as well as students and faculty in library science and related programs with complimentary access to its Library Center for one year.

Subsidized by ebrary, the Library Center includes more than 85 full-text e-books covering topics such as digital library development, general collection development, and the history of libraries and librarianship, as well as illustrated guides from the Library of Congress. Contributing publishers include Emerald Group Publishing Limited, Idea Group, Inc., Greenwood Publishing Group, Library of Congress, and MIT Press.

To receive complimentary access, students, faculty, and librarians may register at http://www.surveymonkey.com/s.aspx?sm=iLchAc260S528\_2btn4tcig\_3d\_3d.

“ebrary is dedicated to serving the needs of the library community, including the next generation of librarians,” said Christopher Warnock, CEO of ebrary. “We are pleased to participate in National Library Week by providing access to a selection of relevant e-books that we hope will provide additional knowledge that students, faculty, and librarians can use today as well as in the future.”

Key features and benefits of the Library Center include the following:

- Simultaneous, multi-user access – any time, anywhere.

- The ebrary Reader® provides the ebrary system with all of its rich functionality and streams documents, eliminating cumbersome document downloads.
- ebrary InfoTools® provides contextual linking to multiple online resources.
- Multiple search options including advanced and simple, by full-text, keyword, subject or author. ebrary also supports Boolean, proximity, and federated search.
- Personal bookshelves that automatically store links to bookmarks, highlights, and notes, providing an archive of research.
- Automatic citations when text is printed or copied and pasted into Word or any text application. Citations include an automatic URL hyperlink back to the source.
- Highlighting and annotating.
- Multiple ways to navigate throughout a document or the entire selection.

About ebrary (www.ebrary.com) ebrary® is a leading provider of e-content services and technology. The company helps libraries, publishers, and other organizations disseminate valuable information to end users, while improving their research and document interaction.

The company has developed a flexible e-content platform, which customers may use in a number of different, integrated capacities: ebrary customers may purchase or subscribe to e-books and other content under a variety of pricing and access models, and they may license the ebrary platform to distribute, sell, and market their own content online. All options are delivered using a customizable interface and include the ebrary Reader™ with InfoTools™ software, which enable integration with other resources to provide an economical and efficient way to utilize information.

ebrary currently offers a growing selection of more than 170,000 e-books and other titles from more than 290 leading publishers and aggregators.

Founded in 1999, ebrary is privately held and is headquartered in Palo Alto, CA.
